

In-Spire Call for papers

Winter 2012 In-Spire Journal of Law, Politics and Societies General Issue

Volume 7, issue 2

In-Spire is currently inviting submissions for its Winter 2012 General Issue. In our 'general issues' we welcome original research on a broad range of topics, enabling interaction and the exchange of new perspectives between and beyond disciplines. We recognise the pursuit of a variety of research questions and strategies. We publish papers which assess and explore the qualities and/or boundaries of particular social science disciplines or which actively attempt to engage with other disciplines.

In-Spire is a peer-reviewed journal.

We publish original research in the following areas...

- international relations / global politics
- political and social philosophy
- sociology
- law and critical legal studies
- criminology
- environmental politics
- ethics
- gender and sexuality
- media and communications

We encourage submissions from established academics as well as young researchers in the form of traditional articles, with critical research and academic referencing, or book reviews.

Articles must be submitted according to the submission guidelines at <http://inspirejournal.wordpress.com/submission-guidelines/>.

They should be sent to the managing editor Emma Murray at e.t.murray@ilpj.keele.ac.uk no later than 30th August 2012.
